Fight Manipulation: Check Fake!

Supported by:

Erasmus+ / Youth Exchanges

EU Youth Programme Priority:

Participation in Democratic Life

Topic:

Youth Participation / Promoting Participation for All Media, Information & Critical Thinking

Youth goals:

Information & Constructive Dialogue

Don't believe everything you are told! During a week-long youth exchange, 36 participants from 6 countries (Finland, Belgium, Turkey, Greece, Ukraine and Slovakia) learned how to spot fake information and potential online dangers. To share their findings, they produced guidelines on the techniques used by hoaxers to fool us, and how to stay safe!

What is Participation for you?

"Participation of young people in these kinds of projects needs to be as active as possible. Nonformal learning methods enables them to get more deeply involved in the subject and encourages more sharing. It's also very important to offer young people some opportunities to demonstrate what they've learned."

Diana Jašeková PROJECT COORDINATOR

Wow!

What an impact! During the project, participants learned how to be critical and active citizens. The Finnish participants created their own informal group and started working on mental health issues of youth workers. Others designed their own projects and got involved in European Solidarity Corps volunteering. They also organised their own training course!
