Engaging, involving and activating, Idee in Comune is an amazing example of bringing politics and young people together! By creating a safe space to discuss politics, this project enabled young people to really engage in democratic processes and become active citizens of Europe.

What is Participation for you?

“Participation means getting involved in your society. To understand your relationship with society. To study its laws, and if you disagree with them, look for ways to change them for the better.”

Gloria Lombardo PROJECT COORDINATOR

Wow!

No wonder that Idee in Comune received the SALTO PI Awards in 2020 for making an impact on decision making. Through simulations and games, young people created an effective communication channel with local administrators. And the story doesn't end here! The participants of its follow up project, Europa in Comune, don't just come up with ideas – they carry out concrete action.
