Collect trash and turn it into surprising art pieces! Infusing creativity with caring, a group of eco-friendly volunteers has been doing exactly this in the marvellous island of Madeira. The result? Throughout the years, their installations have attracted attention to important environmental issues and inspired thousands to live in a more sustainable way!

What is Participation for you?

"Participation is to have a voice. Whatever you are fighting for, commit yourself 100% and inspire others to go with you. It is not an easy process, but in your daily life you will always find people who share your vision."
